Developmental Asset # 1 – Family life provides high levels of love and support – February 3, 2016

Valentine's Day is all about love. Or is it? My favorite description of love is "a need to act in another person's best interests." Jewelry, fancy dinners, candy, and store bought sentiments on one day is fine as long as meaningful love is shown the rest of the year. Regardless of your belief of what constitutes love, I hope it includes giving your time for fun and building positive relationships, listening, showing respect in the same way you wish to receive it, showing your loved ones you are pleased to see them, and lots of praise, hugs, and smiles.
