Developmental Issues & 40 Assets – March 7, 2018

While some of the 40 experiences & qualities that make up the 40 Assets may be more difficult to gain for those with developmental issues, most are not. All of us can boost the assets in any child, or adult, by being consistent with simple, caring behaviors:

|                           |                                                |
|---------------------------|------------------------------------------------|
| Noticing                  | Helping when help is needed                    |
| Acknowledging             | Praising successes                             |
| Smiling                   | Being respectful                               |
| Greeting by name          | Allowing for differences in interests & skills |
| Listening                 | Allowing for mistakes                          |
| Taking concerns seriously |                                                |
